Major Streeter Views Girls' Phys. Ed. Classes

Major Ruth Cheney Streeter, director of the United States Marine Corps Women's Reserve, visited campus last Thursday to review the girl's classes in physical education. In the morning Major Streeter watched girls taking rhythmic, conditioning, and going over the obstacle course. A luncheon was given in her honor at which Ruth J. Woodruff, Dean of Women, Dr. Howard R. Jones of the Department of Education, Margaret R. Hoban, Head of the Women's Physical Education Department, and other members of the faculty were present. After lunch Major Streeter spent an hour interviewing New Hampshire girls who are considering entering any branch of the women's armed forces.

As is customary in military circles, Major Streeter went to call on Colonel Edwin K. Smith who is in command of the R.O.T.C. and S.T.A.R. units here. In between times, she and her companion, Lt. Pauline Madden of the Procurement Office, found time to examine the pottery lab as well.

Major Streeter's mother was the late Mrs. W. C. Schofield of Peterborough who was prominent in New Hampshire and University affairs. She is continuing her trip through New England with a stop in Boston.

UNH Soldier 'Lost' for Week, Doing KP Duty at Fort Devens

Advanced Reserve Officers Training Corps juniors at the University of New Hampshire are "all present and accounted for, sir" once again, now that one of the group has been found in the labyrinth of Fort Devens and returned here.

On Friday, April 16, 95 members of the university's R.O.T.C. were sent to Fort Devens for processing. Allen W. Walker of Grantham, feeling ill, entered Devens' infirmary immediately after getting his "dog tag" and G. I. clothing. The processing was expedited so that the New Hampshire R.O.T.C. juniors would not miss college work; and the group left camp on Saturday, with Walker still in the hospital.

When he was finally released on Monday it was too late to start back to Durham. Tuesday morning an unsympathetic corporal, needing someone for K.P., forced the meek New Hampshire private to go to work 14 hours a day.

First May Music Festival Off to a Good Start

By Phyllis Deveneau

The fact that concerts presented by college students are not always perfect is relatively immaterial. The important fact is that these undergraduates strive for perfection. In this striving not only do they themselves absorb an enthusiastic and sincere love of music, but when given a chance to reveal their talents they inject an appreciating vitality into the concert going public.

This theorem was evidenced last weekend when the musical organizations on campus opened the first annual May Music Festival with two programs that had much which was good and some which was only passable, but all of which was done with great zest.

Under the direction of Director Bjornar Bergethon the festival was opened Saturday night at 7:30 in Murkland Auditorium with a light opera program. Here was the happy recognition of those songs we've heard before from such operettas as "Sweethearts," "The Chocolate Soldier" and "Rose Marie." The Women's Glee Club stole the show with their excellent intonation, good pitch and perfect balance. Their opening number, Play Gypsy! Dance Gypsy! from "Countess Maritza," with its rather tricky timing set a high standard for the rest of the concert. Other numbers which they sang included Romberg's, "Will You Remember," "My Hero" from Straus, "Chocolate Soldier," "Summer Time," by George Gershwin and Friml's "Indian Love Call." Freshman Cynthia Fradd was the soprano soloist in the latter and her slightly husky voice and easy stage presence set the mood for the rest of the glee club. "Summertime" with its subtlety and cyncopation was very well handled.

Though overshadowed by the glee club, the choir gave one of their usual competent performances when they presented selections from "Iolanthe," Victor Herbert's "Sweethearts," You-man's "Hit the Deck," and "Gypsy Love Song" from Herbert's "The Fortune Teller." Marjorie Ware and Robert Coller were soloists in an informal setting for "The Gypsy Love Song" which was a welcome change from the formality of many concerts. They both did very well, though Miss Ware's interpretation was a bit more polished than Mr. Coller's.

The part which was not so good of this concert were the selections by the concert band. Included were renditions from "The Bartered Bride," "Die Fledermaus," "Show Boat," "The Student Prince" and "New Moon." This reviewer's main objection was the excessive length of these numbers and the bad timing of the waltzes from "Die Fledermaus."

On Sunday afternoon at 4:00 in Murkland Auditorium the second of the series was devoted to a chamber music program. The two English composers, Purcell and Holst, were given the best interpretation of the afternoon by the string orchestra—which is really quite good. The program was opened with the Purcell "Suite in C Major" and particularly in the Prelude was the nice singing quality of the strings noticed. The good work was kept up in the Bach pieces for string, "Air" and "Gavotte." The string orchestra also closed the program with the lightweight Elgar, "Serenade in E-minor" and the clever Jig from Holst's "St. Paul's Suite."

In between the excellent beginning and ending selections came various woodwind and French horn combinations. There were a few disturbing tootles of one of the clarinets but outside of that a competent execution was given on these varying difficult instruments of compositions by Paganini, Kreutzer, Spohr, and Wyman. Members of the combinations included: Carolyn Gove, Ida Pettigrew, Maxine Libby, William O'Meara, Robert Linnell, Esther Drew, Joyce Churchill, Margaret Tower and Ruth McDaniel.

Choir Next Sunday

The next program will be given Sunday night at 8:00 p. m., in Murkland Auditorium by the University Choir, assisted by Louise Edson and a string quartet.

1944 Granite

Since it is a generally accepted fact that the 1944 GRANITE will be the last volume of that publication to be issued for the duration, the approaching arrival of the 35th volume is greatly anticipated by the staff. If no new difficulties are encountered, the books will be delivered the end of this week.

The staff wishes to express its appreciation to all who have helped to make the publication of this book possible. Especially deserving credit are the heelers who have worked tirelessly without even the prospect of a staff position as a reward for their work and time spent. Hoping to somewhat compensate them, the staff chose an honorary committee from the most faithful. This group consists of those who would have had staff positions had the elections of such been possible.

The committee is Chairman Barbara Shepard, Vice-Chairman Priscilla Garran, Katherine Davis, Ruth Carens, Clarence Murphy, Robert Newell, Elinor Bond, Ardelia Hutchins, Margaret Newton, Marie Selig, Joan Tuttle, and Glenna Sanborn.

Recruit this Week For Farm Workers

Enrollment at 304 T Hall for Women

Recruiting for the Women's Land Army to work on the farms of New Hampshire in the Food For Freedom program is taking place on campus this week, according to a recent announcement of the Emergency Farm Labor office of the Extension Service.

The survey is to determine the availability of women students for farm work. Survey forms have been distributed in all women's dormitories and sororities. House presidents are cooperating in collecting the surveys.

Will Wear Uniform

Like their sisters in military service, they will wear a uniform and have insignia. This is another opportunity for New Hampshire women students to support the war effort as they have already done in war training programs, the blood bank, Red Cross, War Bonds and many other fields.

Actual enrollment for the Women's Land Army may be made at the Farm Labor office, Room 304, Thompson Hall, Durham, New Hampshire or at any one of the county Farm Bureau offices.

The wage scale ranges from $12 to $22.50 per week. The lower wage rate includes board and room but at the higher rate the worker must pay for board and room.

There are several different types of work open to "Land Army" members. (1) Year round farm work for seven to nine months.

No Ration Coupon or Point Worries at Bill's Swap Shop

By Marion Gorman

Clocks, glassware, chairs, and guns—these are just a very small portion of the numerous articles that may be found in the Swap Shop in Jenkins' Court, opposite the Franklin Theater.

An interesting hobby that originated in Dublin, N. H., as rumor has it, affords a nice living for the proprietor, Mr. Marsh, better known to the students as Bill. This business had its beginning last fall when Bill, after a serious illness, was obliged to find himself a hobby.

Confronted by Conglomeration

Upon entering the shop, one is confronted with a conglomeration of chests, desks, chairs, costumes, draperies, to swap or to buy, also a few fine antiques. One of the quaintest pieces Bill owns is an old wooden clock which hangs at the farthest end of the room. This clock bears a picture of Columbus together with an inscription which reads "Anno 1492." Who knows—

SCM Plans for Summer Program

By now all SCM members should have received the Newsletter which tells of the work that has been done this past year and tentative plans for the summer. The biggest news of the moment is the summer conference of the New England Student Christian Movement which is held annually at O-AT-KA on Lake Sebago in Maine. This year it is to be held from May 30 through June 6, and Theodore Ferris, Rector of Trinity Church in Boston is to be the main speaker.

The program includes a daily talk by the main speaker, discussion groups and seminars, singing to be led by Russell Ames Cook, Director of the Portland Symphony Orchestra, and recreation including swimming and boating on Lake Sebago, dancing, and ball games. This conference is one of the highlights in the conferences of the S.C.M. and all students who are interested in it should contact Bob James or Judy Austin. Expenses for the week will be only $13.

Retreat Planned

A retreat is being planned for the coming weekend for the new and old officers of the organization. The place has not yet been decided upon, but it will last from Saturday noon until Sunday afternoon. All S.C.M. members are urged to attend and contribute to the plans for the summer and the coming year.

The program for next Sunday evening will be held at N. H. Hall and will last from 6:30-8:00. All students are invited to this, the last meeting of the school year, a welcome is extended to any of the service men on campus who would like to attend. There have been several of the men who have been coming regularly and their interest and participation in the discussions and in the worship—service which closes each evening program as evidenced.

Student Union Building

For many years New Hampshire students have dreamed and hoped for the time when the campus would have a student union building similar to those which grace the campuses of most of the colleges and universities in America. It now begins to look as if that dream will soon come true. The Alumni Fund Committee has announced plans for raising funds for just such a building—to be built as soon as the war is over in memory of New Hampshire sons and daughters who served in the war. The building will be named the Alumni Memorial Union building.

As is the case on other campuses the union building will be the social center of the campus and will provide facilities for many different types of recreation. Among the things which the building will undoubtedly contain will be reading rooms, lounging rooms, some sort of canteen, and other recreational facilities which will be decided upon when plans are more fully under way. It will fill a great need for "some place to drop in," and in the case of commuters it will fill an even greater need for a place where they can get to know all the other New Hampshire students as they read, play games, smoke or lounge in the spacious rooms of the building.

A tentative site for this Alumni Memorial Union has been considered—the triangle of land east of the President's home, across from Kappa Sigma house. The building will be large and well equipped and is expected to cost at least a quarter of a million dollars.

Of course the raising of funds for this wonderful project is a problem of sorts, but the members of the Fund Committee feel certain that New Hampshire men and women need only to be told of this memorial tribute to be whole-heartedly behind all the plans. A good portion of this money will come from the loyal body of New Hampshire Alumni, many of whom have already expressed enthusiastic approval of the idea, but civic-minded citizens who are not Alumni are being contacted and so far the response has been excellent. Indeed it is planned also to seek the cooperation of the student body throughout the next few years in swelling this fund.

This building should prove effective in bridging the gap which the undergraduate encounters upon graduation. In other words, it will weld the students and alumni into a single New Hampshire group with mutual aims and objectives.

To the Granite Staff

The 1943 issue of the GRANITE, junior book, is expected to be distributed to the students sometime this week.

This year, more than ever, the yearbook will be a valuable remembrance of days spent on campus, as it records the last year of college life as it was formerly known.

To the Editor, and to her assistants, who spent many long, weary hours toiling over the copy, and surmounting all the difficulties presented by priorities, shortages, and the loss of many valuable staff members throughout the year, we offer this word of praise for work well done.

We are sure that the pleasant feeling they are now experiencing as they reflect on their completed task, will be heightened by the very favorable reaction of the students when they view what we consider one of the best GRANITE ever.

Music Festival

While we're in a bouquet tossing frame of mind today, we would like to offer a special one to Professor Bjornar Bergethon for his work in presenting the music festival here this weekend.

In spite of the shortage of time left in the semester, the music department set a fine precedent in this first festival. By its success, we can hope that it will be reported as an annual event from now on.

We have hopes, too, that in the future, after the war probably, it will grow into an affair of state-wide importance. One that will help set the university up as a true cultural center for the people of the state.

CAPITOL TO CAMPUS

NO QUIET ON THE CAMPUS FRONT

So far, 488 colleges and universities have been named as "approved for inspection and possible negotiation of contract" under the Army and Navy specialized training programs. The list is virtually complete and it's likely very few more institutions will be needed.

But still there's no certainty in the future for harried college administrators.

For one thing, needs of the services themselves are not static. They'll change with the tides of war and the scope of America's participation. Another uncertainty is the lack of assurance of the number of men to be detailed to the training programs. And it now appears the Army's program will not begin any sizeable operations for several weeks and probably will not reach full speed until June or July.

These uncertainties have led many schools to delay adjustments to be specialized programs until contracts actually are signed.

With the service lists completed, schools not named are facing again the question of how they can best serve the war effort. Civilian and military officials hope they'll remember the oft-reiterated statement that the most serious manpower shortage are in technical and professional fields. They're also anxious that no discrimination is made between students in uniform and students in civvies.

Both are preparing for vital, patriotic contributions to the war.

WILL THE JOB LAST?

Not even history's greatest armed conflict can divert attention from the problem of earning a living. College students going into the services want to know whether they'll have jobs when they come home. Civilians in war industry, particularly women, wonder whether they will still have jobs when it's all over.

A recent Gallup poll revealed that 79 per cent of today's war workers think their present jobs will continue after the war. Related to this confidence, which may decrease as demobilization sends millions of men back to the labor market, is the Gallup finding that more than half of the public has not heard of the National Resources Planning Board's report on postwar plans which provides a stepping stone to full employment.

Down at CIO headquarters on Washington's natty Jackson place, however, Phil Murray is worrying about mass unemployment of women after the war.

"There is a serious possibility that at least 10 million workers will lose their jobs within three months after the hostilities cease," he says. "That will affect women more than men. They will automatically be dismissed when war contracts are cancelled or completed. As newcomers, women will have relatively few skills and comparatively little seniority."

All this adds up to a need for full employment after the war. "If something near full employment can be achieved," Murray feels, "then women will continue to be welcomed into industry and the professions. Age-long barriers against women tend to disappear when their services are really required."

So long as men who are able and eager to work are not assured of jobs, however, women will continue to suffer from economic discrimination.

MEET TOM!

Tom is an expeditor for a New Jersey war plant. All day long, he contacts suppliers and subcontractors by Long Distance.

"Are the castings ready? . . . OK New Orleans."

"Hello Detroit, have those parts been shipped?"

"Have you received the brass yet, Atlanta?"

Urgent war calls like Tom's are crowding Long Distance lines, 'round the clock. And the load is increasing daily. Won't you help us give war calls the right of way by observing these simple rules.

1. Make only necessary Long Distance calls.
2. If you must call, plan your conversation.

Sheik and Co. Lose To Rams 10-5 in Gale

Uconn Game Is Rained Out

After being rained out of their Storrs engagement with the University of Connecticut, the Wildcat nine last weekend proceeded to Kingston only to return to Durham with their first setback of the season. The Rams won the wind swept affair 10-5.

The Swaseymen were rushed throughout the trip. Transportation difficulties necessitating that the squad ride standing up coupled with the fact that they arrived at the site of the game just two minutes before the game time and were afforded no time whatsoever to limber up, upset the favored visitors.

Capt. Sheik Karelis started the game after having only the top of the first inning in which to warm up. The scoring began in the last of the first when Sheik, definitely not up to par after the trip and showing signs of coldness, issued two free tickets and Donabedian sent an ordinary fly to center that the wind got control of and sailed over Red Adams' head. This brought in one run.

In the top of the third, the Wildcats got the run back to knot the score. After two were out, Leo Dupont doubled to left center and Ortiz Flint walked. Fred Charron scored Dupont with a single to right, but the rally was quelled when Soc Bobotas lined out to first.

Singles by Downey, Stauff, and Penkala sandwiching a long triple by Galipeau scored two Rhode Island markers in the fourth. This lead realized was never after relinquished. The home team added another in the fifth on a triple by Donabedian, his third extra base blow of the game, and an error.

A walk in the fourth and two hits and a walk were wasted in the fifth by the New Hampshire line. They again left the bases jammed in the sixth after getting in two runs on one hit by Karelis, three passes and an error. In the top of the seventh, the Wildcats missed the boat again when Tom Callagy doubled to center and was left stranded. Flint's Annie Oakley gave the Wildcats their only runner in the eighth.

In the meantime, the Rams had been pecking away at the score, increasing their margin. An error by Charron and a walk to Topasio set the stage for Downey to score them both on a fly ball that the wind decided was going to be a triple. With a 6 to 3 lead going into the last of the eighth, the Rhode Island nine loaded the bases with two outs and then tallied four times on two hits and an error to set the fracas in the proverbial refrigerator.

The Wildcats were given two consolation runs in the top of the ninth. Three walks, a hit batsman, and an error brought in the two runs without touching the ball.

The trip as a whole was entirely discouraging. The game with the Uconnis will be played as part of a doubleheader here on Friday. Saturday, the locals will have a chance to get revenge with the Rhode Island team when the Wildcats will play host. It just wasn't any day to play ball and the New Hampshire boys didn't play. Having absolutely no time to work out and being completely worn out after the train and bus rides, the boys did not feel like playing ball at Kingston, especially when they found out that they were going to play in a gale blowing from first base to left field. The temperature was between 35 and 40 degrees throughout the afternoon.

There is not much else that can be added to this obituary save the reminder that New Hampshire has the best team in the league and now are really mad enough to drub future opponents. A little support at the coming home contests will be rewarded.

"One Shoe Boo" Again Comes Through

By D. E. McPherson

Saturday's showing was definitely no criterion of the worth of Hank Swasey's baseball team. Sheik was not only not at his best but was probably at his worst in many years. The sad part about the whole affair was that it was not due to any fault of the team. First of all they left Durham at 6 A. M. on Friday and of course had to get up at 5 A. M. (yes, there is such an hour.) Rushing then from the North Station to the South they barely caught the train to Connecticut. After it was decided that it was too wet to play in Storrs the lads could still not embark for Rhode Island as they had room engagements in Connecticut. On Saturday morning they had to wait for the third bus in order to get any room from Connecticut to Providence. The first two buses were loaded beyond description. Thus delayed nearly an hour before starting for Rhode Island, they were off, but only for a short time. Just 35 miles outside of Providence the bus broke down. At this point Coach Swasey, Manager Oliphant and the team were desperate. The driver said that the next bus would be by in two hours, which would just allow the New Hampshire team to show up for the last inning of their own game. Coach Swasey then charged Manager Moe Oliphant, being an electrical engineer, with the task of fixing the bus. As about everything under the sun falls the duty of the manager, Moe proceeded to have the bus on the road again within ten minutes. The boys arrived in Providence with two minutes and 13 seconds to eat dinner before leaving for Kingston, the home of the University of Rhode Island. After standing up all the route to Kingston, the boys were off the train less than fifteen minutes before "Play Ball" was sounded. It is not the duty of the Bull to apologize for any defeat that our boys suffer but in this case we think it most necessary to explain the circumstances around the defeat.

One of the most improved athletes in Durham at present is Ralph Pino. Just last year Ralph was fooling around the javelin as a pastime. Now under the tutelage of Coach Paul Sweet, Ralph wears the crown of the New England Champion Javelin Thrower. His mark of 181' $\frac{1}{2}$ " at Exeter has been bettered only by his 187' 9" heave Saturday in the Northeastern dual meet. Orchids this week to you, Ralph, for your amazingly quick but unrecognized development.

Tomorrow night at New Hampshire Hall, the finals in the Intramural Ping Pong playoffs will be staged. Hetzel Hall has edged Sigma Beta two years in a row for the title and this year again both teams have gone through the season to the home stretch undefeated. A large gathering is anticipated to be on hand for the tussle.

THE ARMED SERVICES

Colonel Robert W. Warren, Commandant of the Army Air Forces Bombardier School at Big Spring, Texas announces that Philip MacDonald has recently arrived at this school for training as a bombardier cadet.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. MacDonald of 123 Western Ave. He attended the University of New Hampshire at Durham until his enlistment in June, 1942. He lettered in high school football and in college ice hockey and baseball, and belongs to Kappa Sigma Fraternity. Civ. Occup. was Physical Education Instructor at Gloucester High School and Assistant Football Coach.

The power and fury of the Army Air Forces was strengthened recently as hundreds of Uncle Sam's new fighting pilots, ready and eager to hit Hitler and Hirohito where they can feel it, were graduated from the AAF

Gulf Coast Training Center's ten advanced flying schools. Numbered among the new pilots is Lieut. John C. Irving, 1934-35, a former student here.

Four youths, ex-students of the University of New Hampshire, have reported to the Army Air Forces Pre-Flight School for Pilots at Maxwell Field, Alabama, from the Nashville Army Air Center (AAFC) Nashville, Tennessee, to begin the second phase of their training as pilots in the U. S. Army Air Forces' expanding program.

These aviation cadets are receiving nine weeks of intensive physical, military and academic instruction at Maxwell Field, preparatory to beginning their actual flight training at one of the many primary flying schools located in the Army Air Forces Southeast Training Center.

These men are: Cadet Frederick Walter Carr, '39-'41 student, Phi Delta Upsilon Fraternity; Cadet Paul Louis Deschenes, '34 to '36 student; Cadet James Edward O'Neil, '40 to '42 student, and Cadet Paul Herbert Rich, Jr., '41 to '42 student, Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity.

These cadets began their pre-flight course at Maxwell Field, Alabama, the first of April 1943.

WILDCAT ACE COPS 20 POINTS IN WIN OVER HUSKIES; RALPH PINO TOSSES JAVELIN RECORD

Dougalmen Lose to Gymnasts by 7 to 6

Capt. Martin Leads Wildcat Attack; MIT Here Saturday

Playing in conditions comparable to the middle of March, the New Hampshire Lacrosse team lost their second game of the current season Saturday to a strong and speedy Springfield ten by a 7 to 6 count.

The first period found both clubs feeling each other out, but both teams managed to score one goal before the end of the canto. Springfield drew first blood on a neat unassisted goal by Don Chapman that came at 9:00. Within 25 seconds Dick Smith put the Blue and White into the running with a shot that flew past Shorty Sheehan, the Springfield goalie. Springfield hammered away at Cecile Stackpole, guardian of the New Hampshire nets with no success until the ten minute mark was reached in the second period. During the long range Springfield firing at the New Hampshire nets, Dick Abell intercepted one of the shots and rifled it to Dick Cochran, who shot it past the Springfield goalie for the only New Hampshire goal of the period.

The Red and White stickmen of Springfield who were determined to go to the locker room at the half with a lead, came up with a goal at 14:30 that sent them ahead 3 to 2 as the half ended.

The second half opened with a bang for the Gymnasts. Bill Carlsen hooked the New Hampshire nets with a quick goal at 1:00 and Red Thompson rung the bell at 3:40 to put the visitors ahead 5 to 2. Captain Phil Martin and company then went to work and knocked in three consecutive goals before the seven minute mark. Smokey Kelleher scored the first at 5:30, Dick Abell the second at 6:00 and Abell scored again in 30 seconds assisted by Dick Cochran. These three goals again tied the score, at five apiece, and the Dougalmen started to look something like their winning form displayed in the Harvard victory in the opening game of the season.

In the fourth period with the score knotted at five apiece both clubs opened up and at the seven-minute mark Springfield broke the deadlock with an unassisted goal by Red Thompson. From here on the New Hampshire ten put on the pressure and drove shot after shot at the Springfield goalie but just could not hit home for a tally. In 11:30 Captain Phil Martin received a perfect pass from Ace Parker, circled the Springfield gage and whipped it in to tie the score for the third time in the afternoon. Both clubs rallied as time slowly ticked away, but no scoring took place until the thirteenth minute. At 13:00 Don Chapman, the Springfield attack man, stole the ball at midfield and dashed down the sideline stopping only long enough to throw the pellet to Shad Shadings, who flicked it past Jim Sleeper for the winning goal.

Going down to defeat for the second time has not hindered the Wildcats' hopes for a successful season. This Saturday the M.I.T. lacrosse team invades Lewis field Praying for good weather and to have the full team in uniform is all that the Blue and White stickmen are asking in order that they may duplicate their opening showing against Harvard.

Running, jumping, and piling up points in every direction, Captain Boo Morcom outdid even his best previous performances by grabbing off top honors in four events to help his Wildcats defeat the Northeastern Huskies. Entered in a running event for the first time since his freshmen year, the blond bomber moved by the whole field to take the 100 yd. dash in 9.9 and add another five points to his already established fifteen points. With this kind of superb leadership there wasn't much else for the other Wildcats to do but to move out and take the meet away, and they did just that by a score of 83 to 51.

Starting out with an easy 9' 2" pole vault for a first, Sky-scraper Boo turned into Bounding Boo to take the 100 away from Del Alberghini, Northeastern's big gun in the dashes. Just to keep from cooling off, the blond meteor next moved to the high jump pit and walked away with a 6' 3" job. With a tough wind facing him this was no small feat. Along later in the afternoon as the shadows began to fall the mighty man from Braintree sailed over 23' 9" of old terra firma to make a new record for himself in this event.

In between times every Wildcat on the squad had made a good showing. Next man to step into line was Jim Williams in the 440. Showing plenty of stamina and push, he easily captured his event. Jim, Boo, and freshman Silas Dunklee were the only men to take firsts in the running events. Si won easily, as no Northeastern man was even able to cope with the speed and endurance shown by French, Holmes, and Brown as they came in in a three-way tie for second. Jim Sleeper and Frank Cram added valuable points with a second and third respectively in the mile; Murphy grabbed seconds in the 100 and 220 Lisle, two thirds in the hurdles; and Cram and Crimmins with a second and a third in the half mile.

Meanwhile the field event men hadn't been idle. Paced by big Ralph Pino's heave of 187' 9" in the javelin, they piled up another 27 points. There's no man in New England that can even touch the distance of the Gloucester boy's throw. Neal and Smith also turned in first; Smith, Baker, and Foster seconds; and three thirds by Barrell-Bill Driscoll.

Morcom really did himself proud. Baker turned on the heat in the high jump and got up around 6'. Wieland looked very good also in the broad jump. . . . The wind was terrific; not only strong but very cold. . . . Coach Paul Sweet was really proud of his men. He certainly had a right to be too because he's done a fine job with the available material. If Styrna, Koumaantzelis, Lopes and company were still here, U.N.H. would be almost unbeatable on the cinders.
